E-mails and newsletters

Our emails, with any attachments, are only intended for the person or organisation to whom they are addressed and only for the intended purpose or use. They may contain confidential information and / or personal views that are not necessarily consistent with those of the club.

Any use of this information (such as editing, forwarding, reproducing or distributing in whole or in part in any form whatsoever) by others than the addressee is prohibited. If you receive an email from us by mistake, we ask you to report it and delete the email. The same conditions apply to our electronic newsletters as to our website.

Website

1. General

You may use this website and the information on this website if you fully comply with the conditions set out in this text. We can change these conditions at any time.

2. Intellectual property rights

If you wish to reproduce or communicate texts, images or other items on this website to the public, you must obtain our express written permission for this. However, some names, signs or logos on this website are registered trademarks. You should therefore contact the relevant organisation, service or company.

If we offer you the possibility to have your own contributions included on this website, you may not send works that are protected by intellectual property rights, unless you own those rights or have all the necessary permissions of the rightful claimants for exploitation on the website. In any case you indemnify us against claims from third parties.

The photos used on this website are photographs of Tendoryu Aikido ZuidWest or royalty-free or photos that fall under Creative Commons or have been published with permission. The video clips used on this site are own productions, unless stated otherwise.

3. Affixing a hyperlink to this website

You may link to pages of this website on your own website. The web page containing the hyperlink must disappear completely and the URL address of our website must be clearly visible. Other hyperlinks or iframes (inline frames) may only be made after our express written approval.

4. Links to websites managed by third parties

Any links on this site to websites that are managed by third parties are solely for the information of the user. We do not check these websites and the information that is on them. We can therefore not be held responsible for the content or the quality of these websites. A link does not necessarily mean that we and the operators of these websites cooperate in one way or another or that we have approved the information on these websites.

5. Liability

The information on tendoryu.be is as accurate as possible. We strive to inform you as accurately and completely as possible. Should the information on this website be incomplete or contain errors, then Tendoryu Aikido ZuidWest can not be held liable for this. Interruptions, failures or errors in the electronic delivery of information and / or services offered or requested via this website do not entitle you to any financial compensation in any case.

We undertake to take all measures to ensure optimum security of the website but can not guarantee the safety, nor the continuous availability and can in no case be held liable for the resulting damage, directly or indirectly.
